Editorial.

It is that time of year again. The holidays are upon us. The big news this Christmas at Hampshire Antiques is the publication of my first novel The Road to Reno just in time for holiday giving. There's nothing like sitting around the fireside with a good book about antiques. This one is relating about how some Vancouver dealers are pulling out all the stops in trying to find fabulous things far from home. In this instance they trek down to Reno, Nevada for what appears to be a really promising estate. But is this buried treasure they have abandoned their shops really for real? Buy the book to find out! It is $18.95 plus GST and available from us and Hager Books in Kerrisdale.

Another exciting new promotion from Hampshire Antiques is that we have placed some of our always interesting and varied inventory in two other Vancouver locations. The Antique Warehouse at 226 SW Marine Drive (between Cambie & Main) has a showcase full of jewellery, porcelain and silver along with one of our old staff, Barbara, to greet you on Sunday afternoons. At Collins Jewellers at 2144 West 41st Avenue in Kerrisdale you will find Julio and Lorraine have set up a showcase of our antique sterling silver and silverplate. So, if you cannot make it over to see us and you are in the neighbourhood, please pop in and see the great merchandise that these two fine stores always have on display. You are bound to get all kinds of excellent Christmas ideas.

Isn't this a timely antique Danish plate for the season reminding us about pigging out over the holidays. This one seems to be saying "Go for it'!!
